

PAUL L. SINGER is the Chief of the Consumer Protection Division of the Office of the Texas Attorney General. In this role, Mr. Singer oversees all aspects of consumer protection enforcement in the division. Formerly, Mr. Singer was Managing Attorney of the Internet and Privacy Team in the division, where he specialized in the civil enforcement of state and federal laws relating to the Internet, technology, and privacy. Mr. Singer received his J.D. with honors from the University of Texas School of Law, and his B.A. in English and Government with high honors from the University of Texas at Austin. Mr. Singer is a frequent speaker at national seminars and trainings on a variety of technology, privacy, and general consumer protection topics.