

Glenda Bean, ALMI, Compliance Professional, manages and coordinates the Currin Compliance education and training services. Her experience with training clients along with speaking about compliance topics at industry events, plus her natural talent and easy-going personality was a perfect fit to lead this program. She also has several years of experience reviewing advertising for compliance for insurers, marketing intermediaries, and agents. Currently, she's serving as the Vice President of the Insurance Advertising Compliance Association, a non-profit organization dedicated to training and educating compliance, legal, and marketing professionals on insurance advertising compliance. Additionally, she holds the Associate, Life Management Institute (ALMI) designation and is working toward her FLMI. Outside of the office, Glenda enjoys dancing, spending time with friends and family, and not taking herself too seriously.
